

LCONDA

GALERIE
ET ANCIENS
DES CIVILISATIONS

UMMA

(1)

DESCRIPTION: Process in bronze
The base. The head is cov ressed in a sarong tied at the waist, the anxious be up. Double bands at hands and two la pendulous earlobes, ornate diadem

bowl and in the other, a lotus flower

a lotus bulb. All the details in tin

Excellent state of preservation, very g

ORIGIN: Umma is an infertile Brahm

wife of Shiva who is the god of destr

as opposed to Durga "the fighter".

Brahma and she is considered the visi

was very much loved by the Khmer hierarchy.

The Bayon was the last state temple

Angkor to be built primarily as a Mal

a great number of minor and local temples in various districts and cities of the realm

DIMENSIONS : 13 cm (5.1") Mo

EXPORT LICENCE: supplied with a Passeport culturel issued by the French Ministry of Culture number 156532.

Police book registration N°: 1020